Japanese theatrical forms have their own unique musical styles. Noh theater features minimalist music emphasizing percussion and flute, while Kabuki incorporates lively orchestration with shamisen and other instruments. Bunraku puppet theater also uses traditional music to enhance storytelling.

Traditional Japanese Musical Instruments

The instruments used in traditional Japanese music are renowned for their distinctive sounds and craftsmanship. They can be broadly divided into string, wind, and percussion categories.

String Instruments

String instruments are central to many Japanese musical styles, often used to accompany singing or dance.

The instrument's length and number of strings have varied over time, but the classic 13-string koto remains standard. Musicians use movable bridges (ji) to tune the instrument and create various scales and modes. Koto music can be both soothing and intricate, often used in court music, meditation, and modern compositions that explore traditional harmony.
